Breast Health Navigator Training

Instructor

Judy C. Kneece, RN, OCN, is a certified oncology nurse specializing in breast cancer and is the President of EduCare, Inc. Judy began teaching nurse navigation in 1994 and has trained over 2,300 nurses, internationally, as breast health navigators. She has also consulted with some of the nation's leading hospitals to develop their comprehensive breast health programs.

Judy is the author of the Breast Cancer Treatment Handbook, a patient's guide through the breast cancer experience, and the Breast Cancer Support Partner Handbook, a guide for their support partners. Both books were critically acclaimed by the Journal of the National Cancer Institute as essential for women with a new diagnosis. She is also the author of numerous other books and brochures on benign and cancerous breast conditions, and is the creator of the COPE Library: Breast Health Edition, featuring over 430 patient teaching sheets on breast health for clinics, hospitals and physicians offices.

Judy has written over 40 national articles on breast health management and psychosocial support of patients. She served as Secretary, and was on the Advisory Board, for the National Consortium of Breast Centers. She presently serves as a member of the American College of Surgeons' National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers (NAPBC) and as an advisor to the Department of Defense National Clinical Breast Care Project headquartered at Walter Reed Medical Center. Charleston Southern University awarded Judy an honorary Doctorate of Science Degree in May 2007.

Guest Speaker

Dr. Ruth O'Regan is Professor of Hematology and Medical Oncology at the Winship Cancer Institute (WCI) of Emory University, and Chief of Hematology and Medical Oncology, Georgia Cancer Center for Excellence at Grady Memorial Hospital. Dr. O'Regan also holds the Louisa and Rand Glenn Family Chair in Breast Cancer Research and is the Director of the Translational Breast Cancer Research program at WCI. Additionally, Dr. O'Regan directs the Hematology and Oncology Fellowship program, and is the Vice Chair for Educational Affairs.

Breast Health Navigator Training

Certificate FAQs

What will be covered during the training?

EduCare's 4-day comprehensive Breast Health Navigator Training teaches on all aspects of breast health, benign breast conditions, breast cancer treatment and survivorship. The navigator learns to assess the psychosocial needs of the patient and refer appropriately, support the patient and her family, and educate the patient about breast cancer, treatment decisions and procedures. Participants receive the knowledge and skills needed to become effective navigators from the time of an abnormal finding through survivorship.

What do I receive?

A Breast Navigator Training Certificate from EduCare, provided all training modules are attended.

Will I receive contact hours? If so, from what organization?

Yes, attendees attending all training modules will receive 29.75 contact hours from the Georgia Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center's Commission on Accreditation.

Will I receive credentials after completing the training and receiving the EduCare Training Certificate?

No, completion of EduCare's training does not provide attendees with credentials.

Is EduCare's training affiliated with other organizations that are certifying breast navigators? Will EduCare's training prepare me for the test to be certified by another organization?

EduCare is not affiliated with any other organizations providing certification nor are we acquainted with the test or requirements of these organizations.

If you plan to receive the training certificate from EduCare and certification from a second organization, it is recommended that you contact that organization for an understanding of their requirements.

Is EduCare's Breast Health Navigator Training recognized by other national organizations?

EduCare's training is recognized by NAPBC (National Accreditation Program for Breast Centers). (A reference to EduCare can be found on page 27 in the NAPBC Standards Manual.)
